Best Practice: 01

Title of the Practice:

“Project Based Learning” (PBL)

Objectives:

Institute advocates OBE implementing PBL which is substantial in Engineering education that hones comprehension and fortifies knowledge of the learners. It foregrounds application and orientation of PBL towards society for its betterment. The students demonstrate real-time application and utility of their ideas. The objectives of PBL are:

- To design a solution to the complex problem.
- To demonstrate innovative ideas in useful way.
- To imbibe skills of report writing.
- To foster the spirit of teamwork.
- To nurture the environment of cooperation and coordination.
- To hone interpersonal skills.

Context:

The institute thrusts upon the PBL to inculcate the approach of real-life application of theoretical learning which is a learner-centric approach where students undertake projects under the guidance of mentor-faculty. They discuss outcomes of their projects at Exhibitions; they deliver project-seminars on instruction. PBL is touted as experiential learning that strives for the HOTS specified in Blooms Taxonomy that promulgates creativity. Furthermore, it fosters entrepreneurship; they inculcate the traits viz team-building, teamwork, coordinating and variegated activities as well as they learn about resource-organization and planning, team-management and leadership. Thus, they strengthen their cognitive, social and psychomotor abilities along with administrative and managerial skills.

The Practice:

The institute advocates PBL through planning, organizing and participating in different competitions viz National, Science Day (NSD), Smart India Hackathon (SIH), Avishkar (University Level Project Competition), District Level Competitions, KPIT Sparkle, Unnat Bharat Abhiyan (UBA), Dipex etc with problem statements to find pragmatic solutions. Students choose topic of their choice for PBL; often, beyond their syllabi.

The primary execution of PBL starts with the exhibition of project-related crude-ideas at First Year celebrating National Science Day. Thereafter, the best ideas/project are further pushed up for participation in relevant competitions. These ideas/projects are evaluated at every level and the best ideas/projects are segregated based on the field of application, utility and scope.

Evidence of Success:

Owing to rigorous execution of PBL, many of students/teams participated in District, Zonal, University level competitions and initiated start-ups. Thus, the institute advocates intervention of technology through PBL. It provides substantial access to institutional resources viz use of laboratory after college hours, free trainings like Campus Credential to enhance technical competency in programming languages.

Problems Encountered and Resources Required:

PBL incessantly implemented in all departments, however, advanced level of training is generally overlooked by the students. Often, it is notices that the lack of motivation orients them expelling themselves from the practice at certain stages. Major areas where problems encountered are:

1. Cost
2. Location
3. Various requirements for various projects

While implementation of PBL, the resources, skills and finance for the better execution of these projects were limited due to the constraints of syllabi and time. Learners' reluctance to inculcate new skills, programming languages and software to upskill themselves seemed to be a conspicuous challenge. Learners' casual attitude and lack of motivation are also noticed as obstacles in effective planning and implementation of PBL.

Moreover, students face difficulties in achieving their set goal of project as they need to cull technical data from industries where they require components within time at their location which never turn up there at right time.

Practice: 02

Title of the Practice:

“Stakeholders Contribution for Placement of Students” (SCPS)

Objectives:

Institute implements this innovative method to involve its stakeholders to increase placements of the students. Thereby, it uses all stakeholders' association with industry for the betterment of students. The objectives are:

- 1) To provide placement to all student.
- 2) To increase placement ratio.
- 3) To contribute to the development of organization through placement.
- 4) To provide opportunity to students in widespread area.
- 5) To foster the spirit of teamwork, cooperation, and co-ordination.
- 6) To coordinate the activities of its stakeholders.
- 7) To involve stakeholders in training and placements activities.
- 8) To strengthen the tie-up of institute-industry through its stakeholders.
- 9) To understand the requirements of industry through stakeholders.

Context:

The institute has adopted this practice to ensure the highest placements and to fortify the institute-industry tie-up. It collects needed data about industry for the placements which can be collected through its stakeholders who are associated with industry. Thus, the sense of accountability can also be inculcated effectively. Students placement is the key to develop any technical institution and campus placements is the first place where students get an in-depth exposure into the professional world.

The Practice:

Placement cells function to illuminate the job situation to uncover the right place for the students. Stakeholders, therefore, contribute considering the views of students. They utilize their personal/professional relations to get leads for placement-drives irrespective of their departments. Stakeholders include faculty-members, management bodies, alumni, student-cells etc.

Thus, the institute incorporates stakeholders in placements through their association with industry. The leads from stakeholders are directly forwarded to the institute TPO who prepares job-descriptions for students. TPO collects information through MS form and validates requirement about job profiles, eligibility of students, stipends, bonds, etc. The execution of this practice has considerably increased placement-ratio with higher ranks.

Evidence of Success:

This practice succeeds in many aspects like building new relations with industries; getting a variety of job profiles with good packages. So far, Thirty-one companies arranged placement drive through this practice and One Hundred Six students are placed.

Problems Encountered and Resources Required:

Institute while executing this innovative practice faced following challenges:

- 1) Reserved stakeholders to assist with their details about industry association.
- 2) Time consuming.
- 3) Stakeholders' emphasis on the specific industry for maximum placements.
- 4) Unavailability of common platform for academic-industry interaction.
- 5) Unavailability of core companies in nearby area.
- 6) Longer training period without stipend of a few companies.

However, the institute leaves no stone unturned to incorporate all its stakeholders to increase their participation for the effective execution of SCPS. It tirelessly collects required data and unquestioningly provides every needed assistance and resources to execute this practice.

Dear Sir,

Greetings from ADV Technophiles.!

With reference to our telephonic discussion, we need 5 B.E/B.TCH. candidates from Mechanical Design Engineering. The candidates must be able to join immediately for an offline full time training program of 4 months and then join the employment.

I am sharing my company profile, eligibility criteria, selection process, CTC and draft service agreement.

Can you please share a list/resume of interested candidates so that we can proceed further for shortlisting and scheduling Teams meeting for technical assessment? Below are our preferences for shortlisting the candidates,

1. Academically good performance throughout the curriculum
2. Strong/sound engineering fundamentals
3. Understanding of FEM/FEA fundamentals and theory
4. Exposure / hands-on experience in HYPERMESH software

We won't be able to offer any stipend during the internship/training period as per our current policy and considering our investment in training and infrastructure. We may consider it from next batch if our policy changes then.

Please do let me know if you have any queries.

Thanks for your support.

Warm Regards,
